----WRECKED BY A WATER SPOUT.

The brig Bogota recently arrived at N Bedford, Mass., having on board a party of shipwrecked mariners composed of the officers and crew of the wrecked British brigantine Florence May, who were picked up in the ocean, about six hundred miles from this coast, their vessel having been ulmost torn to pieces by a water spout. Captain Cochran, of the May, says that he sailed from New York with a crew of eight men and one passenger; weatherwas good. The vessel had reached latitude 35; 12, longitude 65:26, and was lying becalmed; at 2 o'clock a. m., she was struck in the bow by a water spont, which hit her so forcibly that she was opened forward, her juboone and head gear were twisted off, and he vessel severely strained and her seams opened, causing her to leak badly. The pumps were at once started, and for three days she drifted about in an u manageable conditio . Fortunately, the weather was good, and but little difficulty was experienced in keeping her free from water, but on the third day one of the pumps gave out, the water began to gain in the hold, and the boats were prepared for leaving the brig; but at this juneture appeared the Bogota and rescued the crew, with their personal baggage. The Florence May was two hundred and thirteen tons burden, and was loaded with a miscellaneous cargo, consisting mainly of flour and grain.

THREE HORSES ABREAST.

The American Express Company has introduced into New York the system of harnessing three horses abreast, after the fashion of the London omnibuses. The change has been made on two of the wagons for an experiment, with very satisfactory results. The wagons are supplied with two poles instead of one, and each of three horses is attached to a separate whiffletree. This is found to be a decided improvement over the system sometimes used of putting one horse in shafts an I another at each side. The harnessing is practically the same as with two horses, with two poles instead of one. The experiment is tried upon the wagons that deliver goods in the upper part of the city, not only because the loads are frequently too heavy for two horses, but to enable the drivers to make up for lost time with an increased rate of speed, when from any cause they are delayed at the start .-

It is related of Abu Nuwas that on one occasion, seeing a man drunk, he burst out laughing, whereat his neighbor asked : Why do you laugh when you yourself are like him every day?" "Just so," said the incorrigible toper, "but I never saw a drunken man before, because I am always the first to get drunk and the last to get sober."- Temple Bar.
